

EDMONTON RUGBY UNION

Edmonton Rugby Union Hall of Fame Selection Process

Both past and present members of the Edmonton Rugby Union (“ERU”) may be nominated for entry into the ERU Hall of Fame based on their contributions towards the game of rugby and/or accomplishments as a player, coach, or builder. A “builder” is someone like a club founder, club or ERU executive, volunteer, or manager.

The annual deadline will be June 1st, however the ERU will accept written nominations for entry into the Hall of Fame throughout the year if an event is forthcoming that merits a presentation. **

Nominations are to be sent to the ERU President., whose contact info can be found at this link <http://www.edmontonrugby.com/board>

Nominations can be made by individuals, groups, or clubs and may include the following information (if applicable):

- The name of the nominee;
- Whether or not the nominee knows their name is being put forth;
- Whether they are being nominated as a player, coach, or builder;
- Current and any past ERU club and/or board membership, employment, or affiliation and length of the same;
- Any involvement with rugby at a rep level (e.g. Gold, Alberta, Canada);
- The nominee’s contributions towards establishing or growing the game of rugby in the ERU and/or, their noteworthy accomplishments as a player, coach, or builder within the ERU;
- If there is a special event being held and, if so, when (in case the applicant would like to unveil the inductee at something like a club anniversary);
- Contact information for the person making the nomination.

Nominations will be considered by the following committee: three ERU board members (including the VP Admin and two volunteers) and two Old Boys/Golden Girls. The committee will consider the nomination, and render a decision, within 60 days of its receipt. The committee will notify whomever sent in the nomination of their decision and, in the case of successful applications, the nominee themselves will also be notified. Every attempt will be to enter the inductees into the ERU Hall of Fame by no later than the end of the calendar year in which they are nominated.

A cap may be placed on number of nominees accepted per year.
